

Kevin Leonard, Director of Governmental Relations at the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners joined Don Curtis to discuss what the association does and how county governments operate in N.C., as well as how different counties are faring in the economic downturn. They also discussed the Association's new youth initiative.