

NCACC Offers Workshop For Newly Elected County Officials

By Administrator

Wednesday, 21 January 2015 05:58 -

RALEIGH, (SGRToday.com) - Come one, come all. That's the message to newly elected members of county commissions from the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners. The invitation is to attend a two-day orientation hosted in conjunction with the UNC School of Government.

"Entire boards are encouraged to attend," reads the posting on the group's website.

The sessions will be held in four locations Friday, January 23.

Details can be found at <http://www.sog.unc.edu/node/1195/sog-program/view-offering/420>