Governor McCrory, instead of a State of the State address, holds a press conference to give his State of McCrory address, outlining his "Carolina Comeback" for 2014 including pay raise for teachers, off-shore drilling and on-shore fracking and fixing Medicaid, somehow. Charlotte Observer political reporter Jim Morrill joins host Barlow Herget to look at this story and others on a judicial black on state's abortion law, MLK Jr. week, and tax incentives for movies.
