

{audio}files/preroll.mp3;files/News_Audio/2012/sgrtmiller070212.mp3{/audio}

Democratic Congressman Brad Miller of Raleigh says he's never seen Washington politics so "poisonous" in its partisanship and sees the current session doing nothing until after the November Election. He says the Supreme Court's decision to reaffirm in a 5-4 vote the Citizens United's case to allow unlimited campaign contributions will put the country in the hands of wealthy individuals more than ever.