

Review panel looks at Perdue's up and down week and recent filings for the governor's race

By
Sunday, 26 February 2012 20:22 -

{audio}files/preroll.mp3;files/Shows/2012/022412_Weekly_News_Review.mp3{/audio}

Mark Binker of the Greensboro News-Record and WPTF News Managing Editor Bruce Ferrell join host Barlow Herget to discuss Governor Perdue's effort to educate more at-risk children in pre-k classes and the Governor as target of Republican name-calling. Democrat Lt. Gov. Walter Dalton made it official, signing up to run for governor while Republican Pat McCrory does the same. The panel also looks at fast-rising gas pump prices and politics and at this week's one-day attempt at Winter.